The time has now come when the spirit of justice which animates the Northern people will require the expulsion from the Southern States of the hordes of rascals, black and white, who have substituted ruthless oppression and pillage for free government. Jennings late editor New York Times.

Joint Discussions.
Hon. J. A. McKENZIE and Hon. J. Z. MOORE, candidates for Congress in this district will address the citizens of Ohio county, on Monday Oct. 30th, at the court house in Hartford. Let all turn out who can for a rich time may be expected.

Capt. SAM E. HILL and Hon. GEO. C. WEDDING, will have a joint discussion at Morgantown, next Monday, commencing at one o'clock, p. m.

Capt. SAM E. HILL and Col. O. P. JOHNSON, will meet at Rockport, November 4, at seven o'clock, p. m., and discuss the political issues in joint debate. Mr. HILL is a young man of ability, as is Mr. JOHNSON, and we hope that a large crowd will be there.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TAFT has been so busily engaged in the Kuklux business that he has not yet had time to answer that polite note of GOVERNOR STONE, of Mississippi, asking him to give "the names, dates and places of wrongs alleged to have occurred in this State reported to your department." Taft will never try to answer that letter.

A vote was taken on the up bound train on L. P. and S. W. R. R. on Monday 16th inst. which resulted as follows:

Tilden, 118; Hayes, 13; Cooper, 1; not voting, 2.

On the west bound train on same road on last Saturday a vote was taken with the following result: Tilden, 57; Hayes, 3; Cooper, 3.

A New York paper offers, as premiums for its subscribers, an annual cutting of the hair or quarterly vaccination free, and to those who pay three years' subscription in advance, a coffin at death; or when it is preferred, a half dozen silver plates. There can be no doubt of the truth of this, for we find it in a newspaper of Paris, France.

WHERE ARE THEY?—Where are the great men who surrounded Lincoln in the days of trial and danger to the Republic? Seward and Chase, the greatest of them all, went down to their graves under the disfavor of the party they had done more to build up and sustain, than any other two men. Three members of Mr. Lincoln's first Cabinet still survive, and where are they to be found? Two of them, Montgomery Blair and Gideon Welles both thoroughly honest and upright men, about whose garments there is no smell of corruption, are in the opposition. Who is the third one, and where is he? His name is Simon Cameron, whom President Lincoln dismissed from his Cabinet in the early stages of the war, and banished to Russia. He is now to be found, as might be expected, among the leaders in the Republican camp, while his son Don fills the War Department, from which his father was ejected.—Ignatius Trumbull.

Which Shall We Choose.

The currency question is one of considerable interest 'tis true but the character of the two candidates for the chief magistracy of this nation for the next four years, is of far more vital importance to the whole people of this country.

In the selection of officers to administer the affairs of the Government, there is a higher obligation resting upon every voter than that which binds him to the support of party nominees.

The patriot's first duty is to his country. Whatever his political views or opinions are or may be, they should not be allowed to oppose the best interests of the Government. Whenever a man becomes the advocate of certain political opinions and clings to them tenaciously even in opposition to the common interests of our country, he demonstrates his selfish indifference to the true principles which should actuate every true patriot in the exercise of the right of suffrage. On the 7th of next November the voters of the United States are called upon to decide one of the most important subjects ever submitted to the arbitrament of the ballot, viz:

Shall the administration of Grant be endorsed and another be established that will be its exact counterpart in every important feature?

We are all well apprised of the evils of the present administration. We know for the last eight years it has been notorious for a system of corruption unequalled in the history of any country, and, oppression under which the vitality of the southern people has almost been crushed out.

The wrongs, cruelties, and outrages inflicted upon the South by the present administration under the guise and garb and in the name of loyalty are almost innumerable, but they have borne up under this burden and silently smothered down all spirit of indignation and resentment in hopes of a better day and now after years of patient waiting and suffering, the time has at last arrived when they have a chance to express themselves against the wrongs inflicted upon them.

The honest and just people in all parts of the Union have arisen in their might to correct the evils that have been plunging the country to ruin and ignoring the rights of one section of the country.

Not only the National Democratic party, but the noble good and true men of every section have banded themselves together against the party which proposes to perpetuate the present style of administration. From Maine to the "Lone Star State" from Virginia to the great North-west, we observe the change in public sentiment which allowed a full and free expression seals the fate of the Republican party as exemplified in Grant's administration and intended to be continued by Hayes, and promises the restoration of an honest and fair administration.

As the leader of this grand reform, they have selected a man against whose purity of character and executive ability his opponents cannot sustain a single imputation. One whose private acts and public record is a complete refutation of every slander they have used against him. SAMUEL J. TILDEN has proven himself competent to reform the evils of which we have spoken, and, by testimony of even those who are opposed to him, his record for honesty is established. No man can truthfully impeach the integrity and ability of GOVERNOR TILDEN.

But what of Mr. Hayes? Nothing more can be said of him than that he is a political nonentity. So far as his independent official conduct would go, it would amount to but little for good or evil, but under the influence and control of men like BLAINE, MORTON, CHANDLER & Co., he would be a potent instrument for evil. If elected it will be through the influence and wine working of these corrupt leaders and he cannot in that case free himself from their control and influence. His election therefore would give no promise of reform and his administration would simply be a repetition of Grant's. It is then unfortunate that many of those who have suffered from this misrule and oppression will allow false issues to draw them from the true line of duty and cause them indirectly to aid in the election of HAYES.

Those Independents who oppose Tilden upon the currency question should remember that it makes but little difference to the tax-payers whether bonds are paid in gold or greenbacks. So long as the present organized system of official stealing continues and the expenditures of the government exceed its income. The first great step toward relieving the heavy burden of taxes now borne by the people is to secure an honest and economical management of the affairs of the Government. Then we may hope for better times and lighter taxes, but not till then. It will then be time to consider the currency question. Will not our people then in all sections ignore for the present, these less important issues and unite in one grand earnest effort to overthrow the party now in power. Will they, regardless of former party affiliations or sectional feelings or prejudices combine together and aid in placing a statesman at the head of the government who is able and willing to correct the wrongs and abuses under which we now suffer, or will they decide by their votes and influence to endorse Grant's maladministration and say we must endure for four years more, the present system of corruption and misrule?

"Sound the loud timbrel
O'er Egypt's sea,
Jehovah has triumphed;
The people are free!"

is the news we heard sounded the other evening by one who had long stood side by side with the Republican party, but since Blue Jeans had gained the victory, he has made him a new song and now sings:

"Let come what will, where'er I am,
Samuel Tilden is my man."

Me thinks as I sit and review the past and look at the present, I find for sixteen years we have been held in subjection—but gazing into the vista of the future, we behold the entire North and South in one solid body, shouting: Tilden, Hendricks and Reform.

The time has come when men who desire a restoration of their liberties, a happier life, and a more economical Administration, should buckle on the armor and from now until the setting of the sun on November 7th, fight with a will to conquer, work with a heart full of love for your children to free them from the chains of oppression that now bind them, that, when you have passed away, they will venerate your memory for the freedom you gave them.

Time was when people could remain at home and leisurely enjoy their many comforts—those times have passed away, the last long years of Administrative corruption have caused men to become so at home—money is the watch-word, and take it as you can get it, is the way people obtain it.

There is of course exceptions, but as a general thing this is the case.

Is it not time for people to see the error? Do you not want reform at the seat of government? Can you worst your condition by supporting a reform party? Will you not perpetuate corruption by supporting Hayes and Wheeler—for it will only be a continuance of Grantism.

THE CENTRAL HOTEL.

KELLEY & SON, PROPRIETORS.

CORNER OF SEVENTH AND MARKET STREETS.

If there is one thing more than another that Louisville is noted for among travelers, it is the hospitality and home-like comfort of its hotels. All of these houses are conveniently situated and under the charge of polite, attentive, and generous gentlemen, and it is no wonder that the strangers who have once stretched their legs under their well-laden tables or rested their weary frames upon their revivifying couches are often carried back in memory to the days and nights they passed in Louisville. Among the best and most popular of these elegant and well-conducted establishments at the corner of Market and Seventh streets, under the efficient management of Kelley & Son, enjoys a most excellent reputation. For many years the Central has had a large share of patronage, and has been regarded with much favor by the traveling public. Passing into the hands of Messrs.

THE CENTRAL HOTEL.

KELLEY & SON.

about three years ago, a new start on the high road of prosperity was inaugurated, and the business gradually and surely increased until it became necessary this summer, in order to accommodate the enlarged patronage of the house, to build an extensive addition, and repair, renovate and repaint the hotel throughout. These recent improvements renders it one of the most complete and inviting public houses in the west. Every modern convenience has been introduced, and everything placed upon a first class footing for the accommodation of three hundred guests.

Mr. W. A. Kelly is well known to the traveling public, having been connected for five years with the House of Elliott & Eschke as traveling salesman making a host of friends wherever he traveled, who will be pleased to hear of his new venture. We recommend the Messrs. Kellys to the traveling public.—Louisville Weekly Times.

We can cheerfully endorse every word of the above.

Fire Insurance.

As the season is now upon us when extra care should be taken to prevent the ravages of fire, we think we are doing our readers a favor by calling attention to this subject and convincing them if possible, of the necessity of Fire Insurance.

The business of Fire Insurance in the past twenty-five years of our nation's prosperity and history has assumed marvelous proportions, and confessedly stands to-day towering above all other enterprises in the amount of capital invested in the thousands of millions of property protected by its beneficent shield; in the vast area of territory it covers (embracing the whole civilized world) and in its noble mission and philanthropic benefits, the practical advantages of which are daily apparent. The very essence of Fire Insurance is protection, security, and at the same time stability. A company that fails when the crisis comes for which it is intended to be a safeguard, is worse than no company at all, for it doubles instead of diminishing the loss by fire. The insurer who has taken out one of its policies, finds, when his house has burned down, that the security he thought he had, is worthless and moreover that he has thrown away the premiums he has paid. Consequently the first duty that seekers of indemnity should exact is solidity, age and prompt payments of legitimate losses. Some of the oldest and most staunch companies in the United States have their parent offices in New York and England. These corporations are directed and controlled by solid, enterprising and successful business men of those places, with an experience of fully fifty years, exhibiting the payment of hundreds of millions of dollars to the assured, and a constantly increasing surplus attests more fully than any language we can pen, the solidity, durability, excellence and pre-eminence of their Fire Institutions.

There are many perfectly safe Fire Insurance Companies represented in this country, but we beg to make a few remarks on the condition of the Royal Insurance Company of Liverpool, whose statement is now before us. It shows us they have $18,009,429.05 in solid, substantial assets, after paying losses since their organization to the amount of $92,301,779.09, and they have a surplus of $4,218,933.67, which is the largest net fire surplus of any insurance company in the world. Losses incurred by this company in the Southern States are paid by Messrs. Barbee & Castleman, Louisville, Ky., without reference to Liverpool or elsewhere.

This Company has a good sub-agency right in our midst in the person of Messrs. Barrett & Bro., well known and reliable business men. They will take applications for the Royal at as reasonable rates as any first-class company. Give them a trial.

Cold and damp morning.
Mrs. N. C. Tiffon, of Litchfield, Ky., is in town visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sallio Tiffon, who has been dangerously ill for the past two weeks is rapidly improving.

I had a very pleasant ride last Sunday, met up with my friend Miss Kate also a very entertaining young gentleman of Illinois, Prof. Wiggins.

Many thanks to Mr. Paul Dean, for his compliments, he is very complimentary indeed. I hope that his life may be long and happy and when his eyes are closed in death, may his gentle spirit meet a glad welcome in that Heaven of eternal rest.

Wishing your paper much success,
I am yours truly,

Capt Sam Hill will speak at Beach Valley School house on Saturday, 28 inst.

Mr. Wheeler and a New York Railroad.

Considerable has already been said about a transaction of Mr. Wheeler with the stockholders of the Ogdenburg, Champlain and Saint Lawrence Railroad, in 1861 and 1865. The examination of records in the matter shows that, by Chapter 142 of the Laws of 1854, provisions was made for the re-organization of the railroad, upon obtaining an order of the General Term of the Supreme Court, which order was to be final. In pursuance of the law, such an order was obtained; but in 1865, Mr. Wheeler drew and caused to be passed by the Legislature a law contained in Chapter 511 of the laws of 1865, authorizing an appeal to be taken to the Court of Appeals, the highest Court in this State. At the same session he also put through a law recited in Chapter 226 of the Laws of 1865, giving to the General Term of the Supreme Court power to allow and award to the trustees adequate compensations. Thus not only making the unappealable case appealable, but providing for payment of the three trustees, Wheeler, Brown and Eldridge, whose time had expired.

The amount awarded under this authority was $159,000, of which Wheeler and the other two trustees got $20,000 each. They previously received $5,000 a year each for the time they served, and this $50,000 apiece was for four years' salary in advance for time they never would serve.

The balance of the one hundred and fifty-nine thousand dollars went for other expenses, &c., in some of which Wheeler had a share. The whole sum, of course, came out of the profits of the stockholders of the road, who were forced to pay whatever sum required to get rid of the trustees; one of the judges who made the award was a partner of Brown's, one of the trustees. His name is A. D. James, and he is now a candidate in the Ogdenburg district in this State. A suit was brought by the stockholders as soon as they got possession of the road for $159,000, under the allegation that it was obtained by blackmail.

Judge James, before whom the case came off, gave judgment against the company, and the case was moved to the United States Court.

Edwards Pierpont, now our minister to England, was attorney for the stockholders.

It is unpleasant to report such scandals, and I never endeavor to do so, except when they appear on examination reasonably well founded. This case has, unfortunately for Mr. Wheeler, that appearance, and the effect of the charge has now been before the public some weeks, and that it has met with no reply, is sufficient evidence to entitle it to some consideration.—New York Letter.

It seems that Mr. Wheeler is as great a Railroad robber as the Republicans would have us believe Mr. Tilden to be.

DIED.—At the residence of Louis Guenther, in Hartford, Ky., Tuesday, October 17th 1876, CAPT. WILLIAM GRAVES, aged 62 years this month.

Thus another of our old citizens has passed away, and though he left behind him no wife or children to grieve at his departure and shed tears of sorrow over his grave, yet no man ever died in Hartford, at whose death the community at large felt more genuine sorrow than did this community upon the announcement that Bill Graves was dead. Rude in speech and harsh in manner, yet there beat in his bosom a warm heart as he responded to friendship's call or Charity's appeal for aid. Indeed the whole-souled generosity and unbounded liberality of the man's nature, next to his inflexible integrity and unswerving honesty, were his crowning characteristics.

To do a friend a kindly turn or bestow aid upon the weak or suffering, were to him duties of first importance which he never felt at liberty to decline to perform. Capt. Graves had been a resident of Hartford for some thirty five years, with the exception of about two years, having crossed the plains to California in 1851 and returned in 1852, not much enriched, save in experience and adventure, by the trip. He died a bachelor, yet he was not a woman hater, and many ladies of Hartford are his debtors for acts of kindness which he rendered them in the line of his business as a mechanic and for which he would never receive anything, his pleasure at being able to oblige, being the only compensation he wished. Kind friends who had enjoyed his society and friendship bygone times watched by him during his last brief but painful illness (for the dread disease, pneumonia, did its fatal work speedily in his case) and we feel assured that the thoughtful watchfulness of Lewis Guenther, assisted by the equally considerate attention of Wm. Hardwick, James A. Thomas, A. T. Hall and W. T. Cox, together with the medical aid of the elder Dr. Berry, supplied every want and alleviated, as far as in human power lay, the pangs of dissolution. May he rest in peace.

HOME AND SCHOOL, published at Louisville Ky., and considered as the best educational magazine of the West, if not of the entire country, has an inviting table of contents for October. The leading article is entitled "Japan and the Japanese," and touches on the early history and manners and customs of that remarkable people; it is illustrated by engravings of temples, modes of travel, jugglers performing, etc. The paper on natural history is about the Hippopotamus, with two engravings of that interesting though ungainly beast. Another paper describes a Rare Fern, the Trichomanes radicans, found in Rockcastle County, Ky., and called in Great Britain the Killarney fern, because it has been supposed to be indigenous only to the neighborhood of Lake Killarney, Ireland. It is illustrated by figures drawn by the writer, Mr. John Williamson, who is an artist as well as a botanist. An essay on "Art and Nature," a letter from England on educational movements in that country, a sprightly colloquy on the importance of visits by patrons to the schools which their children attend, a story of New Orleans one hundred years ago, a poem by Henry Stanton with the usual editorial comments on topics of the times, make a number interesting and instructive alike to the teacher and the general reader.

If not, send for it immediately. It is the universal favorite, and all Southern readers are proud of it. Let a large club be raised without delay in this community. It is the only illustrated literary weekly in the South, and the press and people everywhere unite in pronouncing it the equal in every respect of any similar publication in America. The best literary talent of the whole country, North and South is writing for it, and it has something each week for all classes of readers. Its stories are superior in literary merit, and equal in thrilling interest, to those of any other paper, and its essays upon all subjects are from the best minds of the age.

In addition to thrilling new stories, a series of brilliant articles will soon begin on the CAMPAIGNS AND BATTLES OF THE ARMY OF TENNESSEE, by COLONEL B. W. FROELICH, a distinguished military engineer of that army in all its trying times. These papers will explain all the movements of Generals Johnston, Hood and Sherman. Don't miss any of the numbers. They will read like a fascinating romance.

New and exciting stories are beginning every week or two. State and local agents are being appointed everywhere, but let each community form a club at once and send on for the paper. Having passed successfully through two of the hardest years we shall ever see, it now challenges the admiration and unlimited support of the people. The price is $3 a year, but clubs of four and upwards get it for $2.50. Address Jno H. SEALS, Atlanta, Ga.

The young ladies and gentlemen met, by request, at the house of Hon. H. D. McHenry and organized a home Trench Society. The plays were selected and characters cast by the company. No "Star" engagements, all home talent. The plays will be acted during Circuit Court. Due notice will be given of the time and place, in the HERALD.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from active practice, having placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a Positive and Radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send (free of charge) to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

Mineral Poisons.

When Macbeth told the Doctor to "throw physic to the dogs," and added that he would take none of it, he was doubtless addressing one of those empirics who prescribe Mercury, Calomel, Bismuth, Quinine and Arsenic for every disease they have occasion to treat in the course of their practice. Mineral poison when once taken into the system in enfeebling in its effects, and can never be eradicated, but is a source of perpetual torment. Causing pains and aches to effect the sufferer every time there is a change of the weather. The only safety lies in purely vegetable remedies, such as DR. RALPH'S SEVEN SKINS OR GOLDEN WONDER, which is a sovereign remedy in a great variety of the most common and malignant diseases.

M. London, W. M. Post, S. D. Morgan, John Ferguson, Mansford Brown, Samuel Wilson, Charles W. Conner, G. W. Bunker, A. Martin, R. D. Culbertson, S. K. Cox and H. W. Lewis

Have associated themselves together and formed an incorporated company, under the name of "The Rosine Mill Company" whose principal place for transacting business shall be at Rosine, Ohio county, Kentucky.

The general business to be transacted by the Company shall be the erection of a

REFORM A PATRIOTIC DUTY.

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the United States in National Convention assembled, do hereby declare the administration of the Federal Government to be in urgent need of immediate reform; and we hereby declare our purpose to use every effort to secure the reformation of the party in each State, a zealous effort and co-operation in this end, and to hereby appeal to our fellow-citizens of every political connection, to undertake with us this first and most pressing patriotic duty.

THE UNION AND CONSTITUTION.

For the Democracy of the whole country, we do hereby reaffirm our faith in the permanence of the Federal Union, our devotion to the Constitution of the United States with its amendments universally accepted as a final settlement of the controversies that engendered civil war, and do hereby record our steadfast confidence in the perpetuity of Republican Self-Government.

NOBLE PRODUCTS OF AN HUNDRED YEARS.

In almost acquiescence in the will of the majority—the vital principals of the Republic.

In the supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

In the total separation of the Church and State, for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom.

In equality of all citizens before just laws of their own enactment.

In the liberty of individual conduct, untrammelled by summary laws.

In the faithful education of the rising generation that they may preserve, enjoy and transmit the best conditions of human happiness and hope.

We behold the noblest products of a hundred years of thoughtful history.

But, while upholding the bond of our Union and great Charter of these our rights, it behooves a free people to practice also that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty.

MISERABLE AND HARD TIMES.

Reform is necessary to rebuild and establish in the hearts of the whole people, the Union, 11 years ago happily rescued from the danger of a secession of States; but now to be saved from a corrupt Centralism, which after indulging upon ten States, the rapacity of carpet-bag tyrannies, has honeycombed the office of the Federal Government itself with incapacity, waste and fraud; infected States and municipalities with the contagion of misrule, and locked fast the prosperity of an industrious people in the paralysis of "Hard Times."

HARD MONEY.

Reform is necessary to establish a sound currency, restore the national honor and maintain the National Union.

We denounce the failure for all these eleven years of peace to make good the promise of the legal tender notes, which are a changing standard of value in the hands of the people, and the non-payment of which is a disregard of the plighted faith of the Nation.

We denounce the improvidence which, in eleven years of peace, has taken from the people, in Federal Taxes, thirteen times the whole amount of the legal tender notes, and squandered four times their sum in useless expense, without accumulating any reserve for their redemption.

RETRENCHMENT AND RESUMPTION.

We denounce the financial imbecility and immorality of that party which during eleven years of peace, has made no advance toward resumption, and has instead resumption, by wasting our resources and exhausting all our surplus income; and, while annually professing to intend a speedy return to specie payment, has annually enacted fresh financial drudgery. As such a hindrance we denounce the Resumption clause of the Act of 1875, and demand its repeal.

We demand a judicious system of preparation by public economies, by official retrenchments, and by wise finance, which shall enable the nation soon to assure the whole world of its perfect ability and its perfect readiness to meet any of its promises at the call of the creditor entitled to payment.

We believe such a system, well devised, above all, entrusted to competent hands for execution, creating at no time an artificial scarcity of currency, and at no time alarming the public mind into a withdrawal of their confidence, and led by making no change of men or parties we can have no change of measures and no real Reform.

REPUBLICAN REFORM IMPOSSIBLE.

All these wrongs, and crimes, the product of sixteen years' necessity of the Republican party, create a necessity for Reform confessed by Republicans themselves; but their reformers are voted down in Convention and displaced from the Cabinet. The party a mass of honest voters is powerless to resist the 30,000 office-holders, its leaders and guides.

A CIVIL REVOLUTION NECESSARY.

Reform can only be had by a peaceful Civil Revolution.

We demand a change of system, a change of administration, a change of parties, that we may have
